Not independent

Under the current regulatory guidelines we are required to advise you that Profinancial and its representatives are not independent in relation to provision of financial advice. For example, some advisers may specifically choose to receive life insurance commissions in lieu of charging clients directly when they are providing life insurance related advice. It does not impact our and our advisers' ability to advise our clients.

THE FINANCIAL PLANNING PROCESS

Before your adviser can provide any services or advice, you may be asked to complete a 'fact finder'. A fact finder may also be provided to you in electronic form. This allows your adviser to determine your needs and objectives and consider your circumstances before provide advice or services to you. The more information you provide, the better our advice will be.

You have the right not to provide any information, however in these instances, your adviser will warn you of the consequences of not providing information relevant to the provision of advice. This warning will state that the advice you receive may not meet your objectives where it is based on incomplete or inaccurate information.

Statement of advice

Where personal advice is provided, you will receive a statement of advice (SOA) or a record of advice (ROA). These documents include information about:

1. the specific advice (what we recommend for you);
2. the reasons for the specific advice;
3. fees associated with the advice. This includes fees paid to us and/or fees paid to product providers whose products are recommended;
4. any associations or relationships that may influence the advice;
5. the implementation plan; and
6. any other relevant matters.

Our statement of advice will contain instructions on how the advice should be implemented. We will work with you to ensure the advice is properly implemented. Copies of all advice documents are retained on your client file and you may ask for a copy at any time.

Record of advice

Further advice may be provided in the form of a ROA, provided the basis of the advice has not changed and the earlier advice continues to be appropriate to you.

Product disclosure statement

We will also provide other documents as needed, including educational material, Product Disclosure Statement (PDS) issued by the product issuer for any financial product recommended.

You may provide specific instructions to your adviser by letter, email, telephone, fax or through any other means as agreed.

An important part of advice and your financial plan is to review it on an ongoing basis to ensure it is still relevant. Any change in circumstances warrants an update to your plan.

In some instances, if you do not wish to receive our advice, we may act on your instructions to deal in financial products if you sign a document that records your intention not to seek advice. However, there is a risk that the financial product may not be appropriate for you.

ADVICE PROVIDED AND THE BEST INTEREST DUTY

Where personal advice is provided, your adviser is obligated to act in your best interest. The 'Best Interest Duty' generally requires your adviser to:

- a. act in your best interest,
- b. provide appropriate advice,
- c. provide a warning if the advice is based on incomplete or inaccurate information; and
- d. prioritise your interest where a conflict arises.

APPROVED PRODUCT LIST

Your adviser may only provide advice regarding financial products that are listed on Profinancial's Approved Products List (APL). The purpose of this list is to ensure that only those products which are subject to Australian regulation and which are deemed as fit for their purpose may be recommended to clients.

VERIFYING YOUR IDENTITY

Australia's anti-money laundering and terrorism legislation requires that all clients must verify their identity before receiving a financial service. This will be addressed before we deliver a service.

FEES

The fees and services that you will pay will be set out in a service agreement or statement of advice. Fees may include charges for initial advice and/or ongoing advice. Where applicable, your adviser will also provide you with a detailed breakdown of ongoing fees on an annual basis in a fee disclosure statement.

Your adviser may receive:

1. Fees paid directly by you, based on time, the amount invested or some other agreed criteria;
2. A set dollar amount or percentage-based fee that is agreed between you and your adviser and paid via a financial product;
3. For services in relation to life insurance, banking deposit products, some loan products and older investment products, commissions may be paid by the product provider as follows:
 - a. Initial commission – a percentage of the value of your investment contributions, loan balance or insurance premiums;
 - b. Ongoing commissions – a percentage of the value of your investment balance, outstanding loan amount or insurance premiums, usually calculated at the end of each month in which you hold the investment or loan, or on renewal of insurance products.

Initial commissions on life insurance products may be up to 60% of the initial annual premium. Ongoing commission on life insurance products may be up to 20% of the ongoing annual premium.

As an example, if the annual premium for a life insurance policy is $1,000, your adviser may receive $600 in the first year and then $200 each year thereafter.

Where possible, we may agree to refuse to receive these commissions, rebate these commissions to your account, or use the commissions to offset some or all of your agreed fee for service.

Depending on your requirements and circumstances the above range of fees may not be applicable, we will work with you to come to a separate arrangement where we will disclose any relevant fees prior to commencing any work.

Your adviser may be paid a salary or receive a share of the profits.

REFERRAL ARRANGEMENTS

Your adviser may have referral arrangements with selected referral partners. If a referral arrangement applies to you, your adviser will provide these details in your SOA.

OTHER BENEFITS

Profinancial and your adviser may also receive a range of other benefits from product providers such as marketing support or sponsorship, entertainment, conferences, accommodation and travel which will be disclosed in your statement of advice.
